HUGHES PROBE ADJOURNED UNTIL FALL

MARION CO. MAN DROWNED; THREE SAVED

Max Prater of New Bloomington Is Victim of Lake Erie Accident.

A weekend fishing trip to Lake Erie ended in death for Max Prater, 24, of New Bloomington when he drowned early yesterday morning.

Coastguardsmen were dragging the lake off the shore of Sandy Beach for his body today. He died when the outboard motor boat in which he was riding capsized in rough water, according to the Ottawa county sheriff.

Kersey Prater of 357 Oak street, father of Max, Arthur Plumer of Marion, and Joseph Hawthorne of North State street Marion, were also in the boat and clung to it till they were saved about two hours after it capsized.

Was Excellent Swimmer

The father said today that Max was an excellent swimmer, but that after the boat had overturned he was unable to fight the high waves and reach the boat.

Rescue of the three survivors was effected by Joseph Stinson of Channel Grove who reached the scene in a cabin cruiser when he heard their cries for help.

Max Prater had been a resident of New Bloomington, where he was engaged in carpenter work, for about four months. He came there from his hometown, Salyersville, Ky. to live with a sister, Mrs. Charles Conley.

Besides his father he is survived by his mother Mrs. Mousie Prater and 10 brothers and sisters of Ohio and Kentucky.

Discharged Last Year

An Army veteran, he served in the European theater and was discharged as a master sergeant early last year.

The scene of his death was about 10 miles across the bay from Sandusky and near Port Clinton. Water there is reported to be extremely deep, making the job of recovering his body difficult for the Coast Guard.

Prater and his companions went to the lake Saturday night and planned to return Sunday. They were fishing in a boat rented from Channel Grove.

Mr. Stinson, rescuer of the father and companions, also rescued three other persons clinging to another capsized boat, after he had picked the local man up.

Prater went down when the boat overturned and did not return to the surface immediately according to his father. When he did emerge the boat had drifted away from him and waves prevented him from swimming to it. He became exhausted and sank. A strong northeast wind caused the lake to be rough.

The death was reported to the Ottawa county sheriff, who is giving the Coast Guard assistance in attempts to recover the body.

DAM IN MUSKINGUM EXPECTED TO BREAK

By The Associated Press

McCONNELSVILLE, O., Aug. 11—Officials of McConnelsville and Malta today expected a second break in 70-year-old dam No. 7 on the Muskingum river and called a "state of emergency" to safeguard already endangered municipal water supplies of the two towns.

A 35-foot break in the dam, now under repair by the U. S. army engineers, came July 26, lowering the surrounding water table and offering a threat to the well-supplied systems of both towns.

A 4,600-pound water purification unit, flown from Ft. Belvoir, Va., to Zanesville and trucked into McConnelsville yesterday, was being set up today.

It was planned to purify and pump water directly from the Muskingum river into water mains of both towns through the purification unit, if a second break makes it necessary.

Dr. C. Northrup, health director of Morgan county, said the present municipal water systems were supplying pure water, and waterworks Supt. George Archer of McConnelsville said that town's reservoir was "clear full" with 4,000,000 gallons of water this morning.

Since both McConnelsville and Malta get their water from wells, which react to the river water table, officials feared a second major break in the old dam however might create a definite emergency.

Accustomed to summer warnings, use water sparingly, citizens of McConnelsville and Malta have no effects from the situation yet.

SECOND WORLD FLIGHT EYED

Record Breaker Bill Odom Wants To Try It Again, Via the Poles.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—Pilot Bill Odom said today that he would try it again after setting a new record for the fastest trip around the world.

The 27-year-old veteran flyer broke all previous globe circling records as he buzzed the Douglas airport control tower yesterday just 73 hours, five minutes and 11 seconds after leaving Chicago Thursday on his 19,645 mile solo trip.

"The good Lord was taking care of me for a while last night," Odom said, explaining that he had dozed off from fatigue over the mountains of western Canada and awoke to find himself flashing toward a 19,000 foot mountain peak.

Despite failure of an automatic pilot, lack of gas near the end of the trip, and extreme weariness, Odom, with his converted army A-26 bomber, the Reynolds Bombshell, broke all existing records. These included the former solo record set in 1933 by the late Wiley Post, of 186 hours and 49 minutes, and the previous flight of the Bombshell with Odom, Milton Reynolds, Chicago pen manufacturer, and Flight Engineer T. Carroll Sallee, which made the trip in 78 hours 55 minutes last April.

Averages 269 M. P. H.

Odom's average speed for the flight, including nine hours and 50 minutes on the ground, was approximately 269 miles an hour; during the 63 hours and 15 minutes of flying time he averaged 310.59 miles per hour.

Franklin Lamb, Odom's flight manager, said the youthful airman would enter the Bendix air races at Cleveland Aug. 30 and is planning another global flight in late October with scientists and newsmen aboard.

For the races he will fly a plane that Lamb says still is a secret, but added that "it will do considerably better than 500 miles an hour."

The new 'round the world trip will be the hard way—via the

Alger Youths Held On Firearms Charge

Special to The Star

KENTON, Aug. 11—Chalmer Dyer, 23, and Roy Collin, 21, both of Alger, faced charges of carrying and discharging firearms here today after they allegedly fired four shots at an automobile carrying six Ada youths early Sunday morning.

The shots were reported to have been fired when the youths threw their headlights on Dyer and Collins as they were parked in Ada Memorial park with their girl friends. Fired from a .22 calibre revolver, one bullet flattened a rear tire, one pierced a hub cap and as the youths fled in their car two more bullets pierced the spare tire and back of the car, the Hardin county sheriff said.

Obtaining the license number of the car which was subsequently found to have been owned and driven by Dyer, the youths notified police officer Walter Long of Ada, who called the sheriff's office. The two youths were picked up in Alger Sunday by Deputy Fred Wood of the Hardin county sheriff's office. They were to be arraigned at 1 p. m. today, Sheriff Randall Clark reported.

Autos Damage 2 Poles, House

One Driver Arrested; Six Cars in Four Accidents Over Weekend.

Four traffic accidents involving six automobiles were reported by city police today. Two resulted in considerable property damage and one in a driver's arrest on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Roy Cletis Nusser, 59, of 562 Henry street, was charged with driving while intoxicated after he drove his car first into a telephone pole on Bellefontaine avenue at 8:47 p. m. Saturday then into an electric pole farther down the street about 15 minutes later, police reported.

This morning Nusser pleaded not guilty in municipal court to the driving while intoxicated charge. He was released under $125 bond for appearance in court Thursday.

Police said he crashed into the first pole near 882 Bellefontaine avenue, backed away and apparently went west on Sheridan road. He was traveling east on Bellefontaine avenue when he crashed into the electric pole near Barks avenue snapping it in two. He was thrown from the car and suffered a cut lip. Taken to City hospital in the Boyd and Uncapher ambulance he was treated and released and placed under arrest. The car was badly damaged.

Residence Damaged

The second accident resulted in property damage to the Glen Penry residence at 540 Mt. Vernon avenue occurred at 5:48 p. m. Saturday when Mrs. Vietta L. Bull, 32, of 298 Belmont street lost control of the car which she was driving, police said.

Driver, 15, Arrested Following Accident.

A 7-year-old girl suffered broken ribs and a punctured lung as the result of an accident in Nevada Saturday at 7:30 p. m., the state highway patrol, reported.

The girl, Mary Lee Kerr, was thrown from a car, which overturned, pinning her beneath it, after it was hit by another car at a Nevada street intersection. She was riding with her father, Vernon Kerr.

The other car was driven by Richard D. Lundy, 15, of Upper Sandusky. Patrolmen said that he drove from a side street, hitting the left rear side of the Kerr car, causing it to swing around and overturn.

He was arrested and slated to appear in juvenile court in Upper Sandusky at 2 p. m. today to answer a charge of juvenile delinquency. He had no operator's license, patrolmen said.

The injured girl was taken to Bucyrus hospital by the Bender and Lucas ambulance of Nevada. Her condition is serious, but not critical, according to the patrol's report.

GIRL BOOKED IN SLAYING OF REICH PRINCESS

Victim Robbed of $2,000,000 in Jewelry; Mistress of Son Held.

By The United Press

BERLIN, Aug. 11 — Raven-haired Vera Herbst, self-styled mistress of Prince Ferdinand, was booked today on "suspicion of murder and theft" in the death and $2,000,000 jewel robbery of Princess Hermine, and led investigators to part of the missing treasure.

After hours of questioning the tall, slender Miss Herbst took agents of the U. S. Army's criminal investigation division, which had booked her formally, to an apartment where they recovered six glittering pieces of jewelry from Hermine's horde.

O. R. Carlucce, CID chief, said the recovered gems were some of those Miss Herbst allegedly smuggled from the Russian zone, in which Hermine died last week after a tea party attended by the glamor girl who said she was in love with Ferdinand, Hermine's son, and had lived with him for the last year.

The six pieces of jewelry, (including a diamond and emerald studded tiara) were in addition to 29 pieces previously reported missing and valued at $2,000,000, Carlucci said.

The apartment house to which Miss Herbst led the agents was in the Berlin suburb of Wilmersdorf. The gems were taken from an apartment in which a man named Wilhelm Gommert lived directly above that of Miss Herbst. Gommert was held for questioning.

Carlucci said Miss Herbst was being question about Hermine's death as well as the jewels. His report that she was "very close" to Ferdinand was supported by her own assertion that they lived together.

Ferdinand's wife, Rosa, refused yesterday to pose for pictures with him. A photographer who sought such pictures was told that they were being divorced.

Scratched Suspect Held In Ohio Woman's Slaying

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11—Police held a man with severe scratches on his back today and said they strongly suspect he was involved in the strangulation of 31-year-old Mildred McKelvey, a hotel housekeeper.

Wearing only one shoe, the woman's nude beaten body was discovered yesterday afternoon just inside Brookside park with part of her slip tied around her throat, Detective Lieut. David E. Kerr reported.

Police agreed she had been strangled but awaited Coroner S. R. Gerber's official verdict today.

Kerr said three other men reportedly seen with Miss McKelvey in a cafe Saturday night also were being questioned. Another investigator, Patrolman John Sirkot, declared he had arrested Miss McKelvey twice in the past on intoxication charges.

She was the mother of a 12-year-old son, now under the care of her estranged husband, Walter Cool, of Chambersburg, Pa., authorities said.

Mansfield Air Service Decision Expected Soon

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—Officials of the civil aeronautics board said today that the board hopes to reach a decision within two weeks on applications of three airlines for a trunk line stop at Mansfield, O.

Action in the case has been delayed, board officials said, because it is involved in the complicated Great Lakes case affecting air service in many sections.

The board also is considering applications of more than a score of Ohio communities for feeder line service to connect them with major cross country points. TWA, United and Eastern airlines are seeking the Mansfield stop.

Marion Man Bitten by Circus Tiger May Lose Part of Arm

Raymond G. Watson, 43, Marion man employed as an usher with Ringling Brothers and Barnum-Bailey circus, may have to have his right hand or forearm amputated after being bitten by a circus tiger in Chicago yesterday, The Associated Press reported today.

Watson had reached into the cage to pet a three and one-half months' old tiger cub when the cub's father, "Soungel" billed as "man eating" seized his hand and then his arm, the report said.

The 500-pound tiger was forced to loosen its grip when another circus employe used a crowbar to pry open its mouth. The tiger had been withdrawn from performances two weeks ago in Detroit after it had attacked its mate, circus officials said.

Physicians said that Watson's hand or forearm might have to be amputated.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy G. Watson who recently moved from Marion to Green Camp. The father is a retired railroad man.

Watson's sister, Mrs. William Tuskes of 177½ East Center street, said he left here late in May and had been in Chicago since. She said he had been working with the circus only a few days and was not with the troupe when it played Marion July 9.

The injured man, an Army Engineer corps veteran, was formerly employed at the Marion Engineer Depot. He was released from the Army in 1943 after serving in Nome, Alaska, his sister said. He went back with the Army Engineers as a civilian worker and returned to Alaska, then came back to Marion last spring, she said.

Before going into the Army, Raymond had worked several times for the same circus, his sister said.

BRITAIN STOPS SOCIALIZATION

Cabinet Halts Nationalization of Steel During Economic Crisis.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 11—Labor party members of parliament voted approval today to a decision by Prime Minister Attlee and his cabinet to defer nationalization of the steel industry, perhaps for the duration of Britain's economic crisis.

A Socialist informant said more than 100 Laborites abstained from voting at the party caucus. Attlee's margin of victory was only four votes—81 to 77. This action forced recalcitrant members to withdraw a resolution calling upon the government to undertake the steel program at the next session of parliament, opening in October. Labor party left-wingers have been attacking Attlee on the ground crisis program was "too little and too late" and his leadership was uninspiring.

Later the government's "crisis bill" was to come up for final action in the house of commons, and conservatives were ready to push a series of crippling amendments to the measure, which war Prime Minister Winston Churchill last week called "a blank check for totalitarianism."

The bill would strengthen and extend government authority, held over from the war, to channel labor into essential industries, take a hand in industries deemed inefficient and otherwise work for a sounder economy based on a bigger export trade.

In a broadcast address to the people, Attlee last night gave what he said was the reason for introduction of the bill.

"I believe," he said, "that nearly all will willingly put their shoulders to the wheel, but there may be some who will not. • • • The government is determined that nothing shall stand in the way of our recovery."

Britain currently is getting along on a $3,750,000,000 American loan which, if she keeps on using it up at the present rate, is expected to be exhausted this year.

Five "Boys in Blue" Answer Roll Call At G.A.R. Meeting

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11 — The men who wore the Union army blue were back swapping stories at their 81st encampment today, but only five of their fast-dwindling ranks were on hand.

And even so it was a fairly good representation, since of the original 2,228,000 men who fought for the North in the Civil war, only 68 still are alive.

Those figures were presented yesterday in the opening memorial service by Robert M. Rownd of Ripley, N. Y., chaplain-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic and due for his 103rd birthday in two months.

Commander-in-chief John H. Grate, a little tired but determined, was presiding at the encampment and said one or two more members may appear before it closes Thursday. The 102-year-old Atwater, O., resident helped lay floral wreaths for the Union army dead.

Nineteen more died during the last year.

AIRMAN CLAIMS 'COWARDICE' IS REAL MOTIVE

Committee, However, List Absence of Publicity Man Meyer as Reason.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 — The senate inquiry into Howard Hughes' plane contracts was adjourned today until fall, and Hughes declared it was called off because Senator Brewster (R-Me) was "too cowardly" to continue their fight.

Hughes made this charge in a statement read to newsreel cameramen after the senate war investigating committee had abruptly adjourned its inquiry into its $40,000,000 wartime plane contracts until Nov. 17.

Brewster is chairman of the full committee.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of a subcommittee conducting the hearings, announced that the group decided on the delay because John W. Meyer, Hughes' party throwing publicity man, could not be located for further testimony on his expense accounts.

With Brewster vacationing in Maine, Hughes said that the committee chairman had fought a "losing battle against public opinion."

Dueled Last Week

Brewster and Hughes, millionaire Hollywood plane builder, exchanged charges before the committee in testimony last week.

With both under oath, Hughes charged and Brewster denied that the senator offered last winter to call off the inquiry if Hughes would agree to a merger of Trans World Airlines with Pan American Airways.

Hughes, Hollywood film producer and plane designer, holds a controlling interest in TWA.

Brewster left Washington Friday after the subcommittee had closed hearings on that particular aspect of the case and turned to circumstances of how Hughes got his plane contracts.

"When Senator Brewster saw he was fighting a losing battle against public opinion," Hughes declared, "he folded up and took a run-out powder.

"When Senator Brewster headed for the backwoods of Maine, that was the tip-off. Washington was getting too hot for him!

"Losing Battle"

"There was no reason for the other senators on this committee to continue his losing battle for him if he was too cowardly to stay here and face the music."

Hughes said the other senators "saw no reason to carry Senator Brewster's banner against an overwhelming avalanche of public opinion."

The Hollywood plane builder said he thought the hearing had been adjourned "because the people of this country render the final decision in any controversy" and were back of him.

Hughes previously had told reporters he does not believe the hearings ever will be resumed, despite Ferguson's announcement that Meyer will be subpoenaed for an appearance Nov. 17.

"It was very obvious from the time I first walked into this room that the public and the press were on my side," Hughes declared as newsreel cameras recorded his statement. "They believed that there was no justification for this investigation in the first place."

"Nothing Libelous"

When Hughes had read his statement once to time it, he turned to his attorney, Thomas Slack, and said:

"Say, Tom, do you find anything libelous in this?"

"No," Slack replied.

Police had cleared the hearing room and only a few spectators were on hand when Hughes made the statement.

As he left the room, there was a burst of applause from many who had stood around outside the closed doors waiting for a glimpse of the man who has been the central figure in the senate's most sensational hearings in years.

In announcing the decision to defer further hearings for three months, Ferguson gave two principal reasons:

▶Other demands on the senators' time, including plans several have made for trips to Europe.

▶The inability of the committee to locate John W. Meyer, free-spending publicity man for Hughes.

Ferguson said that Nov. 17 was the earliest date that committee members could conclude other work, including the prospective trips to Europe.

But, Hughes, smiling broadly, told reporters:

"I don't really think the hearings will be reopened."

TAFT LOOKING CHANCES OVER

Wants To Survey Situation Before Committing Himself on Candidacy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The general impression among friends of Senator Robert A. Taft is that he seriously wants to survey sentiment before making formal announcement of his candidacy for the Republican nomination for president.

Here's the reasoning of congressmen and others who discussed the question with reporters:

▶ Of course Taft is a candidate in fact by reason of the action of state party leaders declaring him Ohio's "favorite son" choice, but so long as he refrains from making his own announcement he can stay out of the race gracefully if he finds sentiment unfavorable.

▶ This doesn't mean that he doesn't consider his chances good. He merely wants to be sure of support strong enough to beat that of other prospective nominees, particularly Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

▶ The Ohio senator, recognized leader of the Republicans in the senate, and as such responsible for their legislative program, will observe sentiment during his western speaking tour, beginning next month. He's vacationing in Canada now.

Meanwhile, Taft backers are going right ahead with preparation for a real campaign on the assumption that his candidacy is a foregone conclusion. Rep. Clarence J. Brown, C.O.P. national committeeman from Ohio, is acting as campaign manager of the Taft forces and national headquarters will be opened soon.

All the 10 Ohio Republicans in the house as well as Senator John W. Bricker will be available to help the Taft campaign by speech-making and otherwise. The house members put themselves solidly behind Taft at the Columbus rally at which Bricker likewise formally announced his support and said he had no idea of seeking the nomination for himself.

Speculation among Democrats here is that the party might turn to Ohio for a vice presidential candidate to run with President Truman, assuming the latter will be renominated.

Mentioned in that connection is former Gov. Frank Lausche. He is a frequent caller at the White House. Rep. Michael Kirwan of Youngstown, who helped Lausche win the governorship a few years ago, says that Lausche and the President always talk politics.

The former governor also is a possibility for the gubernatorial nomination, along with former Rep. Robert Secrest, who quit congress to join the Navy several years ago. After the war Secrest sought reelection to congress but lost to Rep. P. W. Griffiths (R).

Young Woman Murdered, Dismembered at Detroit

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Aug. 11—The head and legs of a young woman were found by police today two blocks from an alley ashcan where other parts of her dismembered body were discovered Sunday.

Wrapped in cloth, the remaining parts of the body were located behind a house by police after a painstaking search of a six-block square area.

The victim was identified through scars on the torso as Mrs. Jean Howard Treaki, about 20.

A junk dealer found one section of the body, from the waist to the knees, bundled into a blanket Sunday morning. The upper part, wrapped in a gray bedspread and stuffed into a shopping bag, was discovered shortly after in a garbage receptacle.

Senior Inspector John O. Whitman of the homicide squad said Harold Kitchen, 32, and the woman's husband, Harry Treaki, 50, were being held without charge for questioning in the gruesome slaying.

Bad Weather Holds Up Globe Circling Attempt

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Two light planes piloted by former U. S. Army fliers on a round-the-world-flight are held at Goose Bay, Labrador, by bad weather prevailing in Greenland, their next stop, William Storhmeier, their flight manager, said early today.

Strohmeier said the fliers messaged that they might be delayed as long as 24 hours.

Clifford V. Evans, 26, of Washington, D. C., and George Truman, 39, of Los Angeles, Calif., left Teterboro, N. J., Saturday in the light planes. Each plane has a maximum fuel capacity of 138 gallons.

They arrived at Goose Bay yesterday, after a stop at Presque Isle, Me., and planned to take off early today for Greenland.

From Greenland they plan to go to Iceland and then to England along a 21,350-mile itinerary which they hope to complete in 30 to 45 days.

Palestine Bank Robbery Fails

Police Recover Loot When One of 6 Bandits Is Captured.

By The Associated Press

JERUSALEM, Aug. 11 — Five youths and a girl who said "we are from the Jewish underground" robbed a small Jewish savings bank in central Jerusalem today of several hundred dollars, which police recovered upon capturing one of the bandits.

Four Jews and an Arab died in Tel Aviv as a result of a shooting attack on a crowded suburban restaurant last night. Ten Jews were wounded. Police said the attackers were Arabs.

"The hand of Hagana will reach these murderers and their helpers and they will be punished accordingly. We will restrain ourselves from acts which are in accordance with the will of the Mufti and his consorts. Many demand that Hagana revenge this manslaughter, but it is our duty not to forget that many of our enemies are interested in bloodshed between Jews and Arabs in Palestine."

Four Jerusalem bank robbers and the girl escaped. The captured bandit was apprehended lugging cash down a stairway from the bank.

Office workers summoned police.

The robbers had forced the bank manager to open the cash box after herding employes and customers into a corner. Their leader asserted in Hebrew to the manager:

"We will return any private savings. Whoever informs police will be killed."

A Jewish agency spokesman termed the Tel Aviv killings "dastardly murders, undoubtedly the direct result of the government's weakness to trace and catch such bandits and punish them to the full extent of the law."

1 KILLED, 29 HURT AS TRAINS COLLIDE

By The Associated Press

JACKSONVILLE, Ark., Aug. 11—One Missouri Pacific passenger train plowed into the rear of another here shortly before sunrise yesterday, killing one person and injuring 29.

Dead was Armin H. Emich, 50, of St. Louis, a railway mail clerk.

Although 17 of the injured remained hospitalized at Little Rock last night, none was believed to be in critical condition.

The wreck occurred at 5:26 a. m. as a Memphis bound train rammed the rear car of a halted St. Louis bound train.

The two northeast-bound passenger trains had departed from Little Rock, 12 miles away, a few minutes apart. The St. Louis train had been flagged to a stop because a southbound freight had struck an unoccupied truck, knocking debris onto the track of the St. Louis and Memphis trains.

The railroad district superintendent's office at Little Rock said a formal investigation would be made of the Memphis train's failure to get signals in time to stop before the crash.

Fire Service Proposal On Delaware Ballots

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Aug. 11—Voters in four Delaware county townships will decide whether or not their properties will be protected from fire through facilities of the Delaware city fire department when they go to the polls in November.

Special levies will be submitted for approval this fall in Brown, Berlin, Troy and Delaware townships, according to Frank Greasamar, Berlin township trustee and president of the four township organization which has been negotiating with Delaware city council concerning fire protection.

Cost of the program to townships will be $4,200 annually, the expense to be pro-rated on a population basis, Greasamar said. The per capita annual cost was estimated by Mr. Greasamar to be between $1 and $1.35 through the four township area.

STEEL MARKET IN UNSTABLE CONDITION

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11—The steel market probably will not be stabilized at new higher price levels for some time because of dual base rates on certain products and incomplete reports from the country's steelmakers, the magazine Steel predicted today.

"Confusion is rampant because of dual base prices on some products resulting from announcement by U. S. Steel Corp. subsidiaries of increases on certain semi-finished and finished items in lesser amounts than had been effected by leading independent producers," the magazine said.

"Adding to the confusion is the fact that all producing interests have not yet acted on their price schedules," the trade journal continued. "For instance, all sellers of narrow strip have not yet announced lists and * * * wire products * * * lists probably will not be completely revised for another few days."

The magazine declared "additional price announcements promise to keep the market in a ferment, and with raw material prices soaring, such as on scrap, there is no certainty the new steel schedules will hold long."

The effect of the scrap situation on pig iron is "profound," Steel said, adding, "with scrap more costly than iron by several dollars a ton, demand for iron is the heaviest in years. Integrated steel producers are turning more and more to the use of their own iron, which means the merchant trade is being squeezed for tonnage."

For the third consecutive week, the national steelmaking rate continued at 95 per cent of capacity last week.

WARNS OF NEW TAXES IN 1949

C. of C. Sees Danger Despite Highest Revenues in History of State.

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11 — The state Chamber of Commerce today warned of the possibility of new state taxes in 1949 despite the fact that current revenues are the highest in state history.

In a 32-page booklet published today, the Chamber cited the fact that the recent legislature appropriated almost all of the huge surplus accumulated during the depression and war period years, at the same time establishing new high levels in costs of state government.

The publication, entitled "State Budge for 1947-48," charged that the disbursal of the surplus was due "to the legislature acceding under pressure to the inordinate demands of spending groups."

The Chamber called on Ohio tax-payers to support legislative candidates next year who "will stand up for the principal of no new taxes." Said Chamber President C. I. Weaver:

"The candidates should also be asked to reduce state expenditures in conformity with any reduction which may develop in general cost levels.

"Unless drastic budge cutting and spending reductions are made or there occurs the mircacle of state revenues going still higher than they have under the current war period boom prices, an income shortage of 50 million dollars will exist in 1949 and 1950.

"If price trends should be downward, the shortage will greatly exceed 50 millions, unless large reductions are made in the state budget."

The publication pointed out that the legislature, for current operating expenses, appropriated more than 687 for 1947 and 1948, as against 435 millions for 1945-46 and 369 millions for 1943-44.

Weaver pointed out that the Chamber foresaw the danger of increasing expenditures years ago, when" the organizaton urged reduction in state taxes as an alternative to treasury surpluses which would tempt an overrich government to spend the surplus on unnecessary programs." He continued:

"But taxes were not reduced. Instead, larger surpluses accumulated. From then on, spending groups made inordinate demands on the legislature, and under pressure, the Ohio general assembly has now acceded to these demands."

Weaver warned of the possible imposition of personal and corporate income taxes, gross sales or nuisance taxes, increased taxes on business, increased utilities excise taxes, increased liquor and beverage taxes, increased student fees, and so on.

NEWARK WOMAN DIES

By The Associated Press

NEWARK, O., Aug. 11—Complications following birth of a son, Michael David, six days ago were fatal for Mrs. Dorothy Krumlauf, 39, wife of city editor H. M. Krumlauf of the Newark Advocate, in Newark hospital Sunday night.

ACCUSED OF THEFT. Chief savings teller at the Bristol, Conn., Bank and Trust company, Mrs. Helen R. Fournier (above), 45, was charged in a bench warrant with embezzling $100,000 from the bank. State authorities say that she had been taking about $5,000 a year for twenty years. She was released in $25,000 bail provided by her brother and husband to whom, investigators said, her arrest came as a great surprise.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it.

If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back. You don't have to starve yourself; eat sensibly per instructions on bottle. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Lack of Trained Men Delays Development of Atomic Energy

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 — Lack of trained manpower is keeping America from reaping the full fruits of atomic energy in industrial, farming, medical and other research.

Mr. Atom is in use in all these fields and has led to some gains in knowledge, but research has been limited because only a relatively few investigators know how to handle him properly.

Where he has been used, it has been in the form of "radioisotopes."

These are radioactive—or "ray-emitting"—forms of common elements, such as carbon, phosphorus, sulphur, calcium and iron. They are produced in uranium chain-reaction "ovens."

They are similar, chemically to natural elements of the same name. Radioactive carbon behaves the same chemically as does carbon which does not emit rays.

Used As "Tracers"

Hence the radioactive forms can be used as "tracers" in human, plant and animal systems and in various industrial processes to show what happens to ordinary, stable elements when put into those same systems.

The radioactive forms can be traced by the signals they "broadcast" and these signals can be detected by delicate instruments.

For some uses, such as the treatment of certain diseases, the "rays" can be employed not just as tracers but as a means of direct treatment — similar to the radiations from X-ray or radium.

Dr. Paul C. Aebersold, chief, and Dr. Natahan H. Woodruff, a member of the atomic energy commission's radioisotopes division at Oak Ridge, Tenn., put the situation in focus this way:

"Radioisotope production by the atomic energy commission facilities is expected to be sufficiently large to satisfy the legitimate demands of all qualified investigators. In addition, instruments for the detection and measurement of radiotracers are becoming increasingly available commercially at reasonable cost in good quantity and quality.

"Now the only limiting factor to realization of the wide and extensive uses of radioisotopes is the lack of trained personnel."

These materials require supervision by trained personnel because they are potentially dangerous, because their properties are extremely complex and because they are so precious that can not be wasted.

Use in Future

"No comprehensive statement of the possible uses of isotopes in industrial research and application is possible today," said Dr. Aebersold in an article in Federal Science Progress in May. "There has been too little experience and too few people have given attention to the problem.

* * *

"But it is certain that radioisotopes will come to have an important place in petroleum engineering, in chemical engineering, in metallurgy in synthetic rubber research, in pharmaceutical investigations * * * and in industrial hygiene."

Also, there is the virtually untapped field of "radiation chemistry."

There is evidence that direct radiations from atomic energy materials can influence the physical and chemical properties of certain materials. Some scientists believe that this may open the way to such things as converting natural gas into new products, new methods of purifying water and sewage, even producing certain drugs which now must be obtained from living plants.

In the realm of agricultural research, such intriguing lines of study as these are already underway.

1. Use of radiophosphorus to study the action of phosphate compounds on the soil.

2. Use of "tracers" to study the utilization of phosphorus and chlorine in growing corn plants.

3. Use of radiocobalt to determine the plant material consumed by insects.

In the field of medical research, tracer materials already are in use in the investigation of such things as the mechanism of cancer, congestive heart failure and diabetes; use of fat by liver, muscle and blood, depositing of carbon compounds in the inner pulp and enamel of teeth and in bone.

SEES WAY TO RELIEVE BOX CAR SHORTAGE

By The United Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11 — The box car shortage could be relieved if eight western rail routes would halt conformity in fast freight schedules, Robert R. Young, chairman of the federation for railway progress, charged today.

At least some of these eight routes, he insisted, could reduce the running time of their fast freights between Pacific coast and Chicago to sixth morning delivery, instead of the present seventh.

"The Federation for Railway Progress," Young said in a statement issued here, "calls upon the managements of the railroads in the public interest — indeed in their own interest—to cure the box car shortage simply and quickly by eliminating conformity in freight train schedules.

"The persisting shortage of box cars is the limiting factors in transporting to the consuming markets of the world our agricultural products now piled on the ground in this country."

Young is also chairman of both the Chesapeake & Ohio railway Co. and of the Allegheny Corporation.

Albino Horses To Be Among Feature Attractions at Fair

Twenty-five of the famed Albino horses from the White Horse ranch, Naper, Neor. will be among the feature attractions at the Marion County fair, which will open Sunday, Aug. 17 and run through Aug. 22. These Albinos are perhaps the most intelligent of horses and respond more readily to difficult training than any other breed because they are calm, quiet and cooperative and extremely loyal.

The Albinos which Cal and Ruth Thompson, owners of White Horse ranch, will bring to the Marion County fair are described as the finest ever raised at the ranch, and all are superbly trained. In addition to the usual high school routines, the Thompsons have taught their pets many new tricks, some of which the owners report have never before been accomplished by any show horse. Besides the horses there will be presented Performance and Care Bed, trained Albino Shorthorn cattle, several Albino dogs doing entertaining tricks, and, in addition, the show will be augmented with many splendid novelty acts, Sunny Jim, the clown, and music, all presented with special secenery and lighting effects, for one big show.

Record Number of Births Put Ohio Population at 7,350,000

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11—A record number of Ohio babies were born last year, fewer people died, and as a result the state's population now is estimated by the state health department at around 7,350,000.

The annual report of the state division of vital statistics compiled by William H. Vegel, chief, and released by Dr. John D. Porterfield, state health director, shows in 1946:

▶169,645 children were born alive in Ohio, giving a birth rate of 23.4 per 1,000 estimated population, "the highest birth rate ever recorded in the state of Ohio." The previous record was set in 1918, the last year of the first World war, when 124,629 were born for a rate of 22.2 per 1,000 estimated population. In 1945 131,910 were born alive, a rate of 18.7.

▶The death rate was 10.71 per 1,000 estimated population, against 11.02 in 1945 and 10.02 in 1938, the record low year in the 37 years of centralized vital statistics in Ohio.

Total deaths were 77,905, or less than half as many as the number of babies added to the population.

▶Ohio's estimated population in mid-1946 was 7,263,118. Vegel estimated roughly that 85,000, the difference between the births and deaths, could be added to bring the figure up to date without taking into account people moving into or out of the state.

War-Time Trend

Discussing the high birth rate, a continuation of a war-time trend, Vegel wrote in his summary the number of births reported in the first half of this year was 'considerably higher' than in the comparable 1946 period but added:

"Present indications are that the high birth rate will not continue during the latter half of 1947, however, on the basis of the number of births reported so far this year, it is anticipated that the 1947 birth rate may equal, if not surpass, the 1946 rate."

Dr. Porterfield said there was no pat explanation for the continuation of the customary high war-time birth rate into the post-war period. He suggested although the actual fighting was over four months before 1946 started, for thousands of persons the "war wasn't actually over for months because of the time required for demobilization." Thus, he said, 1946 was in some sense still a war year, with most of the social and economic stresses of the preceding five years still felt.

The report noted "as usual male births outnumbered female births—and the number of hospital deliveries increased from 87.45 per cent in 1945 to 90.19, continuing a 15-year trend toward hospital confinements.

A curious situation was disclosed by the report, which showed two neighboring eastern Ohio hill counties with the highest and lowest baby death rates. Perry county had 32 infant deaths for a rate of 60 per 1,000 live births, the high, and Morgan, adjoining to the east, had only three deaths for a rate of 13, the low.

Ohio lost 6,656 persons by accidents and other violence, for a death rate of 91.59 per 100,000 estimated population, against 6,287 in 1945 for a rate of 89.21. Accidents themselves accounted for 5,295 deaths, or 72.85 per 100,000 population.

"Automobile accidents ranked first in importance as a cause of death in all age groups from five through 19 years," the report said. "Second in age groups 1 through 4 and 20 through 29 years."

Bus Carrying 40 In Accident On Morrow Co. Road

Miss Nettie Mae Harrison, 17, of Cleveland, was injured when the bus in which she was riding sideswiped a truck on route 42 about a mile northeast of Carrington at 5 a. m. Saturday. The bus, owned by the Jewel Gospel Co. of Cleveland, was carrying a party of 40 colored persons to a revival meeting in Dayton. Lorenzo L. Harrison, 22, of Cleveland, was driver of the bus and the truck was driven by William J. Lorimer, 27, of Norwalk.

Miss Harrison declined to receive medical care for side injuries, as she told state highway patrolmen she had to see would be healed.

The bus and truck were both driveable following the accident.

Two other accidents in which one person was injured occurred in Morrow county Friday night and Saturday morning, the state highway patrol reported.

Friday night slight damage resulted to a car driven by Harold D. Gardner, 22, of near Carrington when it collided with one driven by Harry St. Claire, 70 of Carrington, which was backing from the curb on county road 25 in Fulton. There were no injuries.

At 12:10 a. m. Saturday on Morrow county road 153 cars driven by Edward H. Miley, 52, of near Carrington and John F. Gatchell, 71, also of near Carrington were involved in a head-on collision. A passenger in the Miley car, Mrs. Eva Keyone 47, suffered head injuries and was treated by a Carrington physician. Front wheels and grills of both automobiles were badly damaged.

WALDO 4-H MEETING

Plans were made to make a county fair float and a committee to be in charge of the decorations was appointed by the president, Charles Hamlin, when the Waldo Winners 4-H club met Tuesday night at the Waldo school. Named on the committee are Fred Thiesen, Harold Porterfield, Jim Mayes, Clarence Gruber, Barbara Kaelber, Mary Henry, Ruth Denman, Marilyn Denzer, Betty Jo Salyer and Charles Hamlin. For a discussion of projects, club members were divided into groups according to their project to study their problems. A social hour followed and games were played.

Just about two years ago, the war ended — remember? Everyone thought then that there would be plenty of materials and equipment of all kinds available immediately. That hasn't been the case with us. We haven't been able to obtain enough equipment to complete our expansion program, and we're still short. But in spite of this, we have installed more telephones than ever before in our history. We're proud of our record—and we're driving with all possible speed to keep up with the ever mounting demands for new service.

"A Long Way from Pork Chops, Professor"

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK — Is the working man better off in a period of high wages such as now?

My father, who was a small business man and a part-time philosopher, thought so.

Hal Boyle

"A man's got to have something in his pockets that jingles," he would say.

During his lifetime dad had a series of grocery stores. He always set up in business in working class neighborhoods.

"A working man will pay his grocery bill because he has to eat to keep on working," he explained. "But groceries aren't so important to well-to-do people. They pay their bills or buy a new automobile before they think of setting for their food."

The last time I helped out in dad's store was fifteen years ago. I had just finished college, but it took more than a sheepskin to land a job in the summer of 1932.

Mother didn't like the idea of sonny boy going back behind a grocery counter with all that expensive education, but dad said: "Maybe he can learn something there the professors didn't teach him."

So he put me to work passing out sale handbills around the neighborhood. Dad had a theory you should advertise twice as much when business slumped. In the afternoon I came back to the store and helped wait on customers during the late shopping rush.

TAKE IT EASY! Don't blame your child if she is tired and cross after a long shopping tour. It would have been better to leave her at home.

In those depression days we always sold a lot of hamburger. In good times the working man buys lots of round steak and pork chops for his family, no matter what the price. But in 1932 they were buying hamburger and cheap stew meat, and, in dad's store at least, many were paying only with paper promises.

Hamburger finally fell to three pounds for a quarter. Round steak dropped to nineteen cents. These prices depressed dad.

"You can work all day and still barely cover the bottom of the cash register," he said.

Dad had the theory that low prices were meaningless in a period of major unemployment, as people out of work couldn't buy much anyway.

"We're better off when everybody's working even if prices go sky high," he said once. "Things move. People complain a lot, but they keep on buying anyway. Everybody has more confidence. That's when people feel good — when they can hear their pockets jingle. You can't spend with an empty pocket."

Long Way from Fundamentals

Then dad said curiously:

"What did they teach you at the university about all this?"

I started to give him a glib recital of what I remembered from my economics class about the theory of business cycles. He didn't let me finish.

"You are getting a long way off from pork chops, professor," he said. He walked back to the meat block in the rear of the store.

"I guess I had better bone up some more hamburger," dad sighed. "Probably won't sell a T-bone steak all day.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Headache

One of the strangest of all head pains might be called "five-minute headache." In this disorder there is usually an attack of severe pain in the face, forehead or behind the eye, limited to one side. Along with the pain there is swelling of the tissues, watering of the eye and congestion in the nose. Though most uncomfortable while it lasts, this headache is short-lived, each attack lasting from five minutes to an hour and occurring daily over a period of weeks or months.

Doctors call this disorder histamine cephalagia. It is due to the fact that histamine, a chemical which the body normally produces in small amounts, is suddenly increased until there is enough present to cause irritation.

In treating histamine cephalagia, it is suggested that injections of histamine be given under the skin, starting with a small amount and gradually increasing the amount. There are other substances which also may be utilized, such as one called histaminase, as well as the more recently discovered preparations, pyribenzamine and benadryl. These substances can be taken by mouth, but of course, must be utilized under the direction of a physician.

One of the most common causes of head pain, according to Dr. Frank N. Allan, of Boston, is migraine, a condition in which there are attacks of headache frequently followed by sickness to the stomach and vomiting. The condition tends to run in families.

Attacks often may be prevented or lessened by using a substance known as ergotamine, which can be either taken by mouth or given by injection into a muscle.

Pain in the head may also be due to high blood pressure in which case, the attacks occur in the morning and wear off during the day. Such headaches may be relieved by the use of sedatives or quieting drugs. If these are not effective, Dr. Allan suggests giving potassium or sodium thiocyanate. These preparations are helpful in lowering the blood pressure, but can only be given over a short period of time as reactions to them often occur.

In some cases, headaches may be due to what is known as physical allergy, that is, sensitivity to such things as heat and cold. In some instances, the attacks occur as a result of exposure to drafts or changes in temperature, causing tenderness of the muscles of the head and neck. Improvement has been brought about in such cases by means of injections into a muscle of niacin, which is a part of the vatimin B-complex. After two or three months' treatment, the preparation can be continued by mouth, taken three times a week.

Thus, it is easy to see that the story of headache is a long and complicated one. Pain in the head may be a symptom of serious or underlying disease and that is why presistent headaches should always be brought to the attention of the physician, even though in most cases it is fortunately a symptom which is more distressing than ominous.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. F.: When I go to bed, I feel swell. When I awake in the morning, I feel like a steam roller rolled over me. After I am up about a half hour, I feel all right again. What causes this?

Answer: It is impossible to tell the cause for the trouble which you describe. It may be due to a variety of causes such as chronic or long-continued infection, lack of exercise, some inflammatory disturbance or similar condition.

You are in need of a thorough study by your physician.

Club Members Speak On Stamp Collecting

Speakers at the Philatelic club meeting at Hotel Harding Thursday night told of procedure in starting and building stamp collections. The club is an organization of Marion stamp collectors.

The first speaker, Raymond Raleigh, explained, illustrated by his own experiences, how to start a collection. After starting, his interest lagged, he said, and then, in the Army he resumed collecting.

The other speaker was Evan Lloyd, who told some of the ways it is possible to obtain stamps in developing a collection. Stamps can be obtained at auction, by trading, from the postoffice department on issue, and by various other ways.

Both speakers emphasized specialization, that is — collecting United States specimens, British Colonial stamps, or other certain types.

Mr. Lloyd's collection, with which he illustrated the talk, contains United States stamps from the time of the Columbian issue.

Who Paid for the War?

A STORY was told during the war about a defense worker boasting on a crowded bus that he never had made so much money—and hoping the war would go on forever. At that point in the story, a dignified, gray-haired woman got up quietly to leave the bus and said: "My son was killed on Guadalcanal."

Millions are still fooled about who's going to pay for the war. As far as they're concerned, it's only the dead, the maimed and the grief-stricken survivors. All others, in their war-boom illusion, are beneficiaries of full employment and high wages.

Debts have been paid. Savings have reached record highs, though lately they are dwindling at an alarming rate. Yet, people are eating better, dressing better, enjoying more luxuries than they did in the bad old days. It looks as if the United States needed a war every so often to enable it to enjoy the amenities of civilization—so goes the war-boom illusion.

There was this same illusion in Britain, during the war and for a short time afterward. Then the harsh realities of British impoverishment began to inflict themselves, increasingly, until a political crisis now has been precipitated. Britain knows what it didn't dare to face in 1945—what the United States doesn't dare to face yet—that the dead, the maimed, the dispossessed and the wretched aren't going to bear the cost of World War II alone.

The declining value of money is only part of it. There is the declining morale of human beings to worry too; they call it a reduction of efficiency. There is the certainty of a lower standard of living— not the pie-in-the-sky vision that British war workers had while they were earning the highest money wages of a lifetime.

Americans won't be hit so hard; this country was more fortunate. But even here it's beginning to dawn on the people that war-boom prosperity and postwar statistics are part of a grisly rosy illusion. The lady whose son was killed on Guadalcanal is getting off the bus. She is shopping for meat at a dollar a pound, and looking for a five-room house at $3,000 a room.

Unplugging the Bottleneck

ANGLO-AMERICAN discussion on increasing the Ruhr coal output will be resumed next week with two important new factors entering the sessions.

The first is that Britain's economic situation is deteriorating more rapidly than was at first realized. This means Britain has greater incentive than ever to get the Ruhr mines operating somewhere near their prewar capacity of 400,000 tons a day. Ruhr coal is the lifeblood of Europe and until its present output is doubled, European recovery will be a mirage.

The second factor is a Ruhr report by Robert Moses, city planner and public works consultant who has just made a survey of Germany for the war department. He says, "what we have today is a bi-lingual debating society, not a well-conducted business." English control, American advice and German management have been at cross-purposes so much it is surprising any coal at all is being produced. He proposes a public authority, financed by private and international bank funds, to operate the mines. Miners' housing and food would be treated as separate problems. All disputes over socialization would be bypassed for the present.

"Only centralization of authority and responsibility can bring order out of this mess," says the report. "Whatever may be said of educating the Germans in the democratic process and against concentration of power as a step toward dictatorship can have no relation to the urgent needs for Ruhr coal. Industry cannot revive without coal and coal cannot be produced in quantity without a single board for policy."

Europe is faced with a condition, not a theory. Realistic steps will have to be taken to meet it. The Moses report has summarized the facts so their import is unmistakable. It also provides remedial steps. Unless they have something better to offer—and if they have it would have been presented by now—the British would find in their best interests to concur without delay.

Traffic Toll

WHEN 80 persons die in a train wreck or an explosion, it makes banner headlines in every newspaper in the land. Yet an average of 80 died in traffic accidents every day in the first six months of this year, according to the National Safety Council. There were 14,490 traffic deaths without anyone being particularly shocked.

The toll of the Texas City explosion was less than a week's traffic toll. The 111 who died in the Centralia mine disaster represented a day and a half's traffic deaths.

Each person's reaction to such statistics is, "It won't happen to me." But it's happening to 80 persons every day and in a year the nation's traffic toll is greater than Hiroshima's losses in the atom bomb explosion. The fact the average has dropped from the 1946 mark of 92 a day, despite an 11 per cent traffic increase, is encouraging. But the toll still is far too high.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Lively Contest on for G.O.P. '48 Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 — A Republican leader in New England (former Willkie dome) says Dewey will not get a convention delegate in his whole area. "As between Dewey and Taft, it would not take me 10 seconds to make up my mind," he has been heard to tell top national Republicans. Apparently a Saltonstall movement is to be launched in the fall up there, and this leader presumably expects New England to go for the Massachusetts senator, who put over the Army-Navy unification bill.

All this talk, however, ignores Joe Martin, the house speaker, who has been chosen legally by congress as next in line for the Truman chair. Martin could logically be chosen by the New England Republicans at their next convention as their own man to supplant the Democratic president in recognition of the fact that he is now practically serving in that capacity. However, Martin seems unamenitous at political organization, which is essential to control conventions, although he certainly did well in organizing the house for unity.

In any event, the story of this unnamed New England leader displays how top Republicans generally are taking the Dewey trip west. They looked on it as a well-contrived publicity venture but now view the results to be that Dewey got more newspaper space out of it than he will get delegates.

Says Stops Well Placed

They say it was well contrived because the New York governor went to the places he knew he would be well received, and avoided the areas where his welcome might not achieve the best publicity. His first stop was St. Louis, where a favorable national committeeman (Mattingly) promised him the delegation. But immediately the Kansas City Republican group, including Senator Kem, came forward in opposition which achieved no publicity. It became clear, however, Mattingly would have trouble delivering Missouri Republicans. Similarly in Oklahoma, Lew Wentz, retired oil man, promised the delegation to Dewey, but Senator Moore, Exely, (former committeeman) and others showed they would not go along with Wentz. Oklahoma was left in doubt.

Then Harold Stassen, the career candidate, came forward with what he had been indicating privately, namely a suggestion that the Republicans should consider only candidates who have taken public stands on public national questions (which Dewey largely has not). California Gov. Warren's people, meanwhile, made no effort stop the inside news within the party that he had not tied up with Dewey or anyone. What the news actually said was: "Warren won't play with anyone." Pennsylvania and Illinois obviously have other (anti-Dewey?) ideas and Michigan will surely be for Vandenberg. So the question seems to be: Where outside New York will Dewey get enough delegates to win?

Taft's Strategy

The emergence of Senator Taft into this candidational situation at his Columbus celebration thus had a greater significance than was given it. Taft's radio broadcast there is being called around Washington his "speech of acceptance" (Although he said he would let Ohioans know definitely when he came back from his vacation). Quite plainly Taft is skillfully coming up against Dewey with a western trip which will certainly be watched as a competitive test journey.

Taft is a remarkable worker, and hair will surely fly. He worked almost day and night to get the congressional session ended, and then doubled his work on the following Sunday in his office, so he could get away Monday. The unions have picketed and plastered him as a "slave bill" author, but he said in his speech his Taft-Hartley bill provisions were demanded largely by union workers, and he named the provisions (majority vote of workers before leaders can impose a union shop, their written consent to a checkoff, increased authority for them over their trust funds, and the way the leaders spend their money, in politics, free speech, getting rid of Communist leaders, and so on). If this is true, Taft will have a union labor following which has not been apparent in the publicity which is contrived largely by the leaders' headquarters in Washington. In fact, this support might not show until there is a well protected occasion, such as provided by the Australian ballot system in elections.

The first strong fight for the Republican presidential nomination in 27 years certainly seems to be developing.

The Vegetable Plate
Our National Dish?

The American Vegetarian party has announced its intention of putting a ticket in the field for next year's national elections.

There's no indication of whom they have in mind for the presidency, but one doubts it'll be Ham Fish.

Incidentally, that'll be one convention where no one will want the hot dog concession.

Old line Republican and Democratic officeholders had best look to other laurels. This new party promises to put an end to pork-barrel politics.

It's already got a ready-made campaign slogan: "Back to America's Salad Days."

There are only three million of them now, but don't under-estimate their potential strength. If meat prices keep rising, vegetarians could very well be in the majority by election day.

I bet that would be the first time in history that those boys ever brought home the bacon.

Ministers on Way To Rio

Aim To Draft Pan American Defense Plan.

By PHILIP CLARK
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Foreign ministers of American republics are hearing this week for Rio De Janeiro in an attempt to write the hemisphere's first treaty of mutual defense.

The continentwide conference, delayed two years while the United States and Argentina dispelled their differences will convene Friday in the plush $15,000,000 Quitandinha hotel in the mountains above Rio.

Sole absentee likely will be Nicaragua, whose three-months-old government by coup is not recognized by her Pan American neighbors.

The stated objective will be the drafting of a treaty implementing the historic act of Chapultepec which branded aggression against one American state as aggression against all. The act, adopted at Mexico City in 1945, would preserve hemisphere peace with the use of armed force if necessary.

But changing times have added these new concerns:

▶Communism — Brazil, which recently outlawed its Communist party, has indicated it wants the hemisphere treaty to include security measures "for protection of democratic institutes" against subversive influences. Other American nations, worried over communistic activities within their borders, may strongly support such measures.

▶Economics — Cuba, stung by the United States' new sugar law provision withholding quota increases to producer nations which deny fair treatment to U. S. citizens, wants the treaty to declare unilateral economic measures a "menace to economic stability." Cuba's ambassador to the U. S. Guillermo Belt, warning the Pan American Union in Washington that his nation might "boycott" the Rio conference, failed recently to get majority support for a proposal which would bring the treaty into force in cases of "economic threats."

Bolivia announced it will demand economic measures guaranteeing reasonable volumes of prime foods and materials to treaty signatories at fair, stable prices. Other countries also have contended they will be unable to contribute modern arms for hemisphere defense without stable economies.

▶The Veto — Argentina alone wants unanimous agreement by all the American republics before collective action is taken to halt aggression. This in effect would permit a single-nation veto much in the manner of the veto privilege guaranteed the big five members of the United Nations security council.

Other nations, including the United States, favor a two-thirds majority for action.

Diplomatic sources have said if Argentina fails to obtain approval of unanimity rule it may press for a principle of consultations before any collective action is sanctioned. The United States favors immediate action to put out any "fires," with consultations later except in cases of mere threats against peace.

Military mechanics of the treaty will be left over for the ninth international conference of American states in Bogota next January which may create a joint staff of military chiefs from all the republics. The Bogota meeting also is expected to wrap up all existing American agreements in a Mexican-proposed "charter of the Americas."

Most informed Pan American observers believe success of the Rio conference will depend on how tough the treaty is as a hemispheric challenge against aggression.

Senator Tom Connally (D-Tex), member of the 39-man United States delegation, believes the 40-member Argentine delegation will "come in and go along" with the treaty. He told an interviewer before embarking for Rio that Argentina and other American republics realize the "need for solidarity in this hour." He warned that threats to hemisphere safety could come from within as well as from without "if we leave one loophole in our chain of solidarity."

Raul Fernandes, 68-year-old veteran Brazilian diplomat who probably will preside over the conference, has predicted the treaty "not only will eliminate war, but also neutrality as a means of conduct in case of war." He said the treaty may be an "example" to be followed in other parts of the world.

The Kansas City Primary

By MARK SULLIVAN

WASHINGTON, Aug 9—Nominally, the controversy in the senate which almost nailed the work of congress just before it recessed dealt with a mere primary election in a single congressional district, one out of 435 in the country. True, the district is in President Truman's state, and he had personally taken a hand in the primary. But not even that would account wholly for the violence of the senate controversy.

That primary election in the 5th Missouri district was, as this column wrote when it took place almost exactly a year ago, "a true microcosm" of the American politics of our time, and hence a microcosm of the presidential election next year. It was this that made the senate controversy tense and that insures further developments up to the presidential election next year and in it.

When Mr. Truman became President the representative of the 5th Missouri district in the house was a member of the President's party, Roger C. Slaughter. He was, however, a conservative Democrat. He opposed measures which Mr. Truman asked congress to pass and which were supported by the Congress of Industrial Organizations Political Action Committee. To the same effect Mr. Slaughter supported measures which Congress of Industrial Organizations and Mr. Truman opposed, conspicuously the Case bill regulating labor unions, which Mr. Truman vetoed.

Created a Sensation

That the CIO should oppose renomination of Mr. Slaughter was natural. It would be easy to accept as tenable the way Mr. Slaughter put it during the primary campaign "This district is the guinea pig to decide whether the Democrats or the . . . CIO Political Action Committee is going to control the Democratic party."

But when President Truman personally announced opposition to Mr. Slaughter he created a sensation. The manner of it was as startling as the fact. Mr. Truman took the initiative, had a manner of going out of his way and being angry and determined. He said that Mr. Slaughter had opposed "everything that I have proposed: if Mr. Slaughter is right then I am wrong." He said he did not stop with a mere announcement of opposition. At a press conference in answer to a question he admitted that he had encouraged the Democratic organization in Kansas City, frequently referred to as the "Pendergast Machine," to oppose Mr. Slaughter.

Part of the sensation in Mr. Truman's step lay in its similarity to the attempt of President Roosevelt to prevent renomination of three distinguished Democratic senators who had opposed some of Roosevelt's proposals, conspicuously the one to change the supreme court. That attempted "purge" failed. Now it was said that Mr. Truman was willing to attempt what Roosevelt had failed in. And after Mr. Slaughter was defeated it was said by partisans of Mr. Truman that he had shown a greater control of his party than even Mr. Roosevelt had had. It was said that other Democrats in congress would now be restrained from opposing Mr. Truman's policies.

"Won Battle, Lost War"

But presently, last November, came the congressional election. In this the Democratic candidate whom Mr. Truman had supported, lost, the Republican candidate won. Not only that, throughout the country the Republicans elected a majority in congress. A classic wirecrack brought down to date said that Mr. Truman had won a battle but lost the war.

Up to this point, all this had been mainly in the field of ideology, what ideas and what leaders should control the Democratic party. Presently came developments in the field of practical politics, extremely practical.

It turned out that in some precincts of the 5th Missouri district Mr. Slaughter had not got a single vote, in some others two, three and four votes. The vigorous "Kansas City Star" scented irregularity and directed a large force of reporters and workers to investigate. What they found was laid before federal officials. The Kansas City council passed a resolution asking the department of justice at Washington under Attorney General Tom Clark to investigate officially. A little later agents of the justice department made a preliminary investigation.

In this, Republican Senator Kem, of Missouri, took an interest. He wrote to Attorney General Clark, asking what was the result of the justice department's investigation. Mr. Clark replied that "a careful and thorough review of the results of this investigation has been made and no evidence of a federal violation was established."

Quite conceivably, Mr. Clark's statement could be technically correct as respects "a federal violation." But a state body, the county grand jury, indicted some 71 persons. And the night after the grand jury reported, the office of the Kansas City board of election commissioners was broken into and the ballots stolen. Following that Attorney General Clark began a new investigation.

Two Questions Posed

In the senate Republican Senator Kem put forward a resolution that Attorney General Clark's handling of the case be investigated. There was political implication in the fact that President Truman had been close to the Kansas City Democratic machine, had been indebted to it for his first election to the senate in 1934, had been associated with it in the defeat of Congressman Slaughter and was otherwise close to it. Democratic Senator McCarren, of Nevada, declared that the purpose of the resolution was "to tear down the great prestige of a great President."

The resolution was prevented from passage by prolonged and bitter opposition from the Democrats, made successful in part by the imminent recess of congress. Two tenable questions might be asked: whether this course was political sense or even common sense; whether again a battle had been won but the war lost? A better course — on the part of the Democrats, President Truman and Attorney General Clark — might have been not only to refrain from opposing the resolution but to demand it, insist upon it.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

A Letter on the Summer Theater

DEAR ED—Well I am in the show business. A feller dropped in on the farm a few weeks ago and asked if I was using my barn. I thought he was just a city man who had sublet his apartment and couldn't get it back, I told him I had some livestock in it, some old buggies, quite a hole hay, &c. He explained he wanted the barn for the drama. I wasn't sure what he was driving at but he spelled it out and explained he meant play acting.

* * *

I told him I doubted he could make a go of it with my barn as I had no scenery, but he laughed and said he could take care of that end. Well, I have two cows, a horse, about a hundred hens, a few ducks and a pig or two in the barn or under it and I said while I didn't want to be unfair to the livestock I wanted to give Shakespeare and Shaw and all them fellers a break.

* * *

He went into a huddle with some other Broadway boys and said they thought I could box off enough of the barn to keep the stock and in fact they might be able to use the horse and the old surrey as they were doing a play like Oklahoma. That reminded me that my son Dudie had some rabbits and that maybe they could put on Harvey.

* * *

I asked about the company and specified that they couldn't bring in Orson Welles or Olsen & Johnson as I wanted things quiet, as the hens were all laying fairly well. The actors they use in mind seemed all right to me even if I never heard of them and I figured they would be better than famous ones, as Seth Weemans leased his barn for a summer theater two seasons ago and the company included two famous stars who lorded it all over Seth and his family, finally taking over the old manse for weekend parties and forcing Seth into the silo.

I got them to sign a contract agreeing to return the barn in good condition, not to worry the cows and never to look for an egg until the hens got off the nests. Then they brought in carpenters and artists and as crazy a lot of folks as I ever seen and things began to hum.

* * *

Well, I haven't had any peace since. Both cows are sick, the horse ran away last Tuesday and every hen has stopped laying except a couple that are nesting in the woods where they can't hear the performers talk about themselves.

* * *

My house has been pretty well taken over by the drama world. A press agent talked me out of the parlor, a couple of authors have the room the wife and me always liked and a director who has a Russian accent is running the kitchen and always cooking up something he calls borsch and I'm afraid my hogs will get hold of some.

* * *

The farm is overrun with city folks every night, and they hang around switching to Calvert all hours. There's no business like show business. Shakespeare said the play's the thing but he wasn't counting on fresh milk and eggs when he said it.

* * *

If I ever get my farm back the drama can stay in the city for the rest of my life. Next week they're putting on "Two Orphans" and the wife and I are in shape to play both parts.

For the Boys and Girls

By TRUMAN TWILL

The article we read last night said children should have more things to read in newspapers—things they could understand. It said they should have editorials written for them, like the children's sermons some ministers preach before bawling out the grownups.

This is for you, little girls and boys. We want to tell you about editorials. How many of you boys and girls know what an editorial is? None? Good.

An editorial is what you find under the place where it says in the paper what the name of the paper is. No, not the front page. On the inside page, on the left side. Here. See. This is an editorial.

It says.

"When it is considered that impartial experts probing into the nonpolitical aspects of the multitudinous manifestations of the acquisitive instinct in homo sapiens not infrequently discover a somewhat perplexing tendency toward an over-exaggerated quest for security . . . and so on."

You want to know what kind of talk that is? It is called editorialese. It is like the double talk your Uncle Willie does when he wants to be funny. But it is too much for even your Uncle Willie.

This is a secret, little boys and girls. No one really understands editorialese. It was not meant to be understood. You are wondering why it is in the newspaper. This is why:

A long time ago men who run newspapers were crazy about big words. They did not know any big words themselves, so they thought anyone who did know big words must be smart. The men they hired to write editorials began to use big words—to impress the boss.

Some of you little people, bless your hearts, have seen those goofy paintings no one can understand. You do not know this, but I will tell you: They were painted by people who knew if they painted pictures other people could understand no one would give a whoop. So they painted pictures no one could understand to attract attention.

That is the way it is with editorials. In fact, little boys and girls, that is the way it is with the whole newspaper. When you read something you cannot understand, it is because someone is trying to attract attention.

Now you know all about editorials. You had better stay away from them until you get a little older, because you are too young to be mad at anybody. Watch this space, instead—and some day real soon we'll write an editorial about international exchange which is something you never heard of but is awfully important. The reason we are not going to write about it today is because first we must find out about it ourselves. That is all, children. Remember, eat up all your caviar.

Civil and Spanish War Pensions To Increase

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11 — The veterans administration said today 208,000 Civil and Spanish-American war veterans and dependents will get a 20 per cent pension boost, starting with their September checks.

The agency estimated the increase will cost the government $29,000,000 for the first year but that the additional expense will decline rapidly thereafter as deaths occur.

"Dead Man's Pedal" Becomes Rail Reality

By The Associated Press

GREENVILLE, Pa., Aug. 11— Fred Luce, 68-year-old veteran Erie railroad passenger engineer, was instructed that he must keep a "Dead Man's Pedal" pressed to the floor or air brakes would stop his new Diesel locomotive automatically.

Yesterday Erie's train No. 7, New York to Chicago flyer, ground to an unscheduled stop several miles east of Greenville. Across the engine cab from Fireman Tom E. Johnston, Luce had slumped to the floor, his foot off the pedal.

Dr. R. W. Brown said that Luce, a resident of Meadville, Pa., had died after a heart attack.

Farmers' Children Lead In O.S.U. Enrollment

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11 — More farmers' children are enrolled in summer school at Ohio State university than those of any other occupational group, university records showed today.

The trend also holds true for the regular school year, the registrar's figures disclosed.

Of 6,000 students who listed parental occupations, 536 said they were farmers or ranchers. During the 1946-47 terms 1,437 students were from farm or ranch homes.

The total summer enrollment is about 12,000. During the academic year it approximated 24,000.

Children of school officials or teachers make up the second largest group, and secretaries' or clerks' children are the third largest.

U.S. SWELTERS WITH LITTLE RAIN SEEN

By The Associated Press

Little rain was in prospect for the nation's thirsty corn or to quench forest fires today as the midwest experienced a heat wave for the second Monday in a row with forecasts predicting some relief Tuesday.

In the corn belt no rain was in immediate sight except for scattered showers in western and central Nebraska in the next day or two, the U. S. weather bureau said. Some showers fell Sunday in the Dakotas and southwest and some light rain was expected today in the Pacific northwest, New Mexico and Arizona.

Although forest fires still raged in Idaho and California they were under control with little prospects of showers to douse them.

A cooling mass from the northwest moved very slowly across the Dakotas and into Minnesota today and it was expected to bring relief from near 100 degree temperatures in Iowa, Indiana, and Southern Wisconsin by late Tuesday although it was not expected to extend south of the Ohio river.

The nation's hot spot Sunday was Waco, Tex., which reported an above average 107. Aberdeen, Tyndall and Pierre, S. D., were close behind with 106.

The heat wave was expected to move slowly eastward causing a few degrees rise in mercury readings in eastern Indiana and Ohio extending to Pittsburgh today. The warmth will creep farther east Tuesday.

brake pedal of the car and hit the accelerator instead. The car crashed into the front of the Penry car, parked at the curb, then went over the curb, smashing a tricycle before crashing into a pillar of the front porch knocking it loose.

The car, badly damaged, was taken to McDaniel's garage. The grill, headlights and front end of the Penry car was damaged.

Cars Sideswipe

A car driven by Lester William Reed, 29, of Fleetwood avenue was damaged when at 7:05 p. m. Saturday it was sideswiped on West Center street by another car. Police said both vehicles were traveling east near Main street when the accident occurred. The other driver was unknown.

Cars driven by Lawrence E. Clark, 31, of 342 Reed avenue and Alfred D. Kaufman, of near Marion were damaged when they collided on Oak street Saturday at 4:15 p. m. Police reported the Clark car was traveling south on Oak street and had just crossed the Erie railroad tracks ahead of an oncoming train. Kaufman was making a U turn in front of the City Ice and Fuel plant and collided with the other car, police said. Considerable damage resulted to the Clark car with only minor damage to the Kaufman automobile.

Odd Allergy Relieved By New Drug

By The United Press

CHICAGO—A puzzling case of partial blindness and eye pain was explained by the patient's allergies to strawberries, tomatoes, bananas, camel and cat hair, two physicians reported to the Illinois State Medical Society.

Drs. Otto F. Seidelmann and Thomas D. Allen said the symptoms indicated a serious spinal cord disease, but they could find nothing wrong with the 63-year-old woman patient.

They examined the possibility of allergies and treated the woman with a new drug, pyribenzamine. They reported her pain disappeared and her eyesight became practically normal.

Brewster Says Hughes Also Called It Quits

By The Associated Press

AUGUSTA, Me., Aug. 11—Senator Brewster (R-Me.) charged today that Howard Hughes had six times urged his senate committee to call off an investigation of war contracts with the millionaire plane manufacturer's firm.

Brewster's statement came in answer to an accusation by Hughes in Washington that the senator was "too cowardly" to continue the investigation.

The senate sub-committee had adjourned its inquiry on Nov. 17.

Here for a vacation and to address a Main Republican meeting, Brewster told newsmen:

"Mr. Hughes started this personal phase of it. I suggested he come in and make charges under oath which I would answer.

"He was on two or three hours at a time for several days. Six times he urged the committee, and I quote 'I earnestly urge the committee to drop this matter right here.'

"It seemed to me he was crying 'enough' and throwing in the sponge. That concluded it so far as I am concerned."

HUGHES

and plane builder, also told questioning newsmen he thought the reason the committee gave for postponement was "ridiculous."

"I think that they postponed it because they didn't want it to continue," he said. "I don't believe it will be resumed Nov. 17."

Hughes added at an impromptu news conference that he was "quite sorry" the hearing had recessed.

He said the committee had heard "a lot of inaccurate testimony from witnesses who were ill informed."

Answering a question as to whether he thought the hearing accomplished anything, Hughes said:

"Yes, I think something was accomplished by my coming. There had been a great deal of misconception about this case, for example: that it cost $1,500,000 to move the plane to the water when actually it cost only between $80,000 and $90,000.

Refers to Cargo Ship

He was referring to the still-grounded 200-ton cargo plane which he began to build five years ago.

Hughes said he never had a chance to tell "half of what I came to tell." He added that he still had about 400 pages of long-hand notes.

While expressing doubt that the hearing will be reopened, Hughes told reporters he would welcome an opportunity to go back on the stand "because there has been a lot of inaccurate testimony."

In replying to questions, Hughes said he doubts that the big flying boat will be ready to take to the air by November.

As for the photo reconnaissance plane, Hughes declared "I can't exactly say" when it will be completed.

"It's undergoing tests right now," the plane builder added.

Hughes had two wartime plane contracts—an $18,000,000 one for the flying boat and a $22,000,000 one for photo-reconnaissance planes.

Very Sudden Decision

The decision to postpone further hearings until fall apparently was a very sudden one.

The hearings had gone on for two weeks and there was no indication at the conclusion of day-long hearings Saturday that there was any thought of postponement.

The subcommittee met for about 20 minutes, then Ferguson returned to the crowded committee room and made the adjournment announcement.

Ferguson and Senators Pepper (D-Fla) and O'Conor (D-Md) attended the meeting.

In contrast to Hughes' attitude, Ferguson emphasized to newsmen that the postponement will not halt the inquiry. He said the committee staff will continue to work on the case and declared:

"The investigation is not being stopped — definitely not being stopped."

He said "I wanted certain information from Hughes which I couldn't get without Meyer's presence."

Hughes to Leave

Hughes said he would leave for California by plane this afternoon.

Ferguson said the committee will continue the subpoena it has out for Meyer, but that it will be changed to direct that he appear before the senate group Nov. 17.

A subpoena was issued last week directing Meyer to appear before the committee, but committee aides thus far have been unable to locate him.

The suddenness with which the inquiry was halted was emphasized by the manner in which members had talked of the future of the hearings only a short while before the committee session.

Pepper said he has asked that Generals H. H. Arnold, former Air Corps chief, and Carl Spaatz, present commander, be summoned for testimony in the inquiry into Hughes' $40,000,000 contracts for a 200-ton flying boat and three photo-reconnaissance planes.

But Ferguson said Arnold, if he is called, may be asked why the army turned a cold shoulder to the record-breaking pursuit monoplane Hughes built before the war.

Hughes told the committee Saturday his story of a frustrated wartime ambition to become a big-scale builder of fighting aircraft. Instead, he said his aircraft enterprise ended up as "small stuff" because of "bad feeling" against him and "hatred" of him by Army officers.

Commenting on this testimony, Pepper told a reporter he thinks that Hughes is "sensitive about his reputation" and disappointed "because he didn't get a chance to do one of those big war jobs."

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Aug. 11 — Boris Sergievsky, who landed his small Grumman amphibian plane at London airport last night after a 28-hour hop from New York, said he had made the trans-Atlantic flight "just for fun" to see if his "little plane could do it."

India Still Biggest Source of Plague

By The Associated Press

NEW DELHI—India is still the largest reservoir of smallpox, cholera and plague, according to the annual report of the Public Health Commissioner for the government of India.

Chronic malnutrition, a low level of sanitation and an almost total absence of controlled and protected water supplies also are given as main reasons for the high incidence of deaths.

The report points out that existing health arrangements are totally inadequate to meet the needs of the people. Poor vaccination and inoculation arrangements and lack of transport add to the country's difficulties.

100 ATTEND THIRD LEGION YOUTH PARTY

Post Decides To Continue Saturday Night Dances.

Approximately 100 Marion young people enjoyed an evening of dancing and entertainment Saturday night in the American Legion Dugout on South High street. This was the third of the Saturday night dances sponsored by the American Legion, Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162. Music for dancing from 9 to 12 o'clock was by Alan Cleveland's orchestra.

The dance Saturday night seemed to be a reunion for a number of the young men who have been in service, and also for high school classmates. Groups of these young people joined together to discuss "old times."

It is considered by the committee of Legionnaires in charge that enough interest has been shown by the young people of the city, from the age of 18 and over, to continue with the dances each Saturday night. Throughout the three dances, the committee reports that about 150 eligible dancers have attended and have shown great interest.

During the intermission at Saturday night's dance, with Isadore Birnbaum as master of ceremonies, Newton Cunningham, representing the Legion, gave the Legion's views on the plans for the future dances, and Stanley Moore, representing the youth group, presented the club formation plans. Final arrangements for the club will be made next Saturday night.

BRUINS WHIP DAYTON TWO OUT OF THREE OVER WEEKEND

Murry Dickson Wins One Tilt for Cards, Saves Second

By The Associated Press

Murry Dickson, the slight righthander with the big heart, is one reason the St. Louis Cardinals are right in there fighting to retain their National league laurels.

The gritty little curveballer was the big man in the Cards' twin victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday which moved them to within three and a half games of the front running Brooklyn Dodgers.

Dickson hurled a four-hit 5-0 shutout in the first game and saved a St. Louis 7-5 second game victory with an expert bit of relief pitching.

Dodgers Beat Phils

Southpaw pitcher Joe Hatten and outfielder Dixie Walker combined to lead the Dodgers to a 2-0 triumph over the last place Philadelphia Phillies. Hatten limited the Phils to five hits to register his eleventh victory.

The fourth place Boston Braves staged a two-out ninth inning rally to come from behind and defeat the New York Giants 7-5 in the second game of a doubleheader after the Giants had won the opener 6-2. With the Giants leading 5-3, two out and nobody on base, the Braves put together three straight singles for one run. Then Tommy Holmes smashed his ninth home run to put the Braves ahead.

Clyde McCullough's eighth inning single with the bases loaded gave the Chicago Cubs a 4-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds and the series, three games to one.

Yanks Nip Bosox

With all the runs scored in the ninth inning, the New York Yankees nipped the Red Sox in Boston 2-1 to increase their American league lead over the second place Sox to 12½ games. Rookie Karl Drews won the mound duel from Joe Dobson, giving up five hits and striking out nine before being replaced by Joe Page with two out in the ninth.

Bobby Feller pitched a 6-0 victory over St. Louis in Cleveland as the Indians and Browns divided a doubleheader. The Browns won the second game 4-2. It was Feller's fourteenth victory and his fifth shutout. The attendance of 41,374 broke the season record at home for Cleveland with a new high of 1,063,613.

Ed Lopat pitched a seven-hitter as the Chicago White Sox dumped the Tigers 10-2 in Detroit.

The Athletics and Washington Senators split a doubleheader at Philadelphia, the A's winning the opener 3-2 and the Nats taking the second game 5-2.

Indians Are Run Shy But Dollar Heavy As Gate Mark Falls

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Aug. 11 — Bill Veeck may have a ball club that insists on lingering in the second division when the days grow short, but he certainly can't complain about spectator enthusiasm.

As of today, the attendance at Cleveland Indians home games stood at 1,053,613 for an all-time high, beating the previous record set last year for the entire season of 1,057,289. And there'll be more jamming through the turnstiles tonight when Detroit opens a three-game series.

The crowd of 41,374 at yesterday's doubleheader with the St. Louis Browns was sufficient to put the front office in a tizzy, even though the Tribe lost the second game, 4-2, after Bob Feller pitched his fifth shut-out, a smooth 6-0 performance.

In hurling his 14th victory, Bob allowed five hits, spacing them through five innings and permitted the Browns to reach second base only three times.

Don Black got three checks in some pre-game ceremonies — one for $1,000—but when he started pitching he wasn't so fortunate.

What's Bruin?

The wife of Bob Shuford, Marion outfielder should have come to Marion earlier.

Since the tall brunette came here from Forest City, N. C., a week ago, big Bob has been hitting the ball at a terrific gate. Three home runs have only been a part of the story.

His batting average has jumped from .255 to .275, a glance at the figures (baseball that is) shows.

In the game here last Tuesday with Muncie in which the Cubs lost 17 to 16, Bob smacked out five hits in seven trips and got on base on a wild throw another time. In the game at Springfield Friday night Bob came to bat in the sixth inning with the bases full and Marion two runs behind, drove the ball over the fence in dead centerfield.

Since Shuford came to the Cubs in early June he has averaged nearly a run scored and a run driven in per game. That is good offensive baseball. Although his batting average is not high Bob is dangerous in the clutch and he also has a good eye for strikes and seldom goes for bad ones. He is high on the list among the players receiving base on balls from opposing pitchers. A sore hand has handicapped him somewhat, forcing the use of a rubber sponge to grip the bat.

Although not a speed merchant in the field or on the bases, he plays the game smartly and for all there is in it. The big southern boy is a former fullback at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. His grandfather was an aide to General Robert E. Lee in the War Between the States. Bob himself spent four years in the Marines during the late hate.

He came to the Cubs from Fayettesville of the class B Tri-State league, where he played last year.

Marion and Morrow County Teams Form Six-Man Grid Loop

Four Marion county high schools and two from Morrow county will compete next fall in a new-organized six-man football league, it was announced this week. The league composed of Claridon, Prospect, Caledonia and LaRue in Marion county and Johnsville and Chesterville in Morrow will be called the Double-M league.

One game with each team will count in the standings. The two schools from Morrow county are taking up the sport for the first time, but all four of the Marion county schools played the abbreviated game last year.

A trophy will be presented to the team in first place at the end of the season. A duplicate trophy will be presented in case of a tie.

Two conditions, however, are holding up the complete organization. The recent resignation of Coach John Pearson at Claridon left that team without an athletic director and whether the school plays or not depends on the securing of a coach in time to start early practice. Although Chesterville ordered uniforms last spring they have not been received. The new equipment is expected before the opening of the session.

Coaches at the other five schools are already signed however. They are Preston Burgraff of Johnsville, Glen Hochenshilt of Chesterville, Thurman Wright of Caledonia, Glenn Keesler of Prospect and Don Burton of LaRue.

The games will be played in the afternoon starting at 3.30 except those at Prospect which will be played under the lights starting at 8.. The opening games will be played Sept. 19 and the league schedule will end Oct. 17.

The full schedule follows:

Sept. 19 — Claridon at LaRue, Johnsville at Caledonia, Prospect at Chesterville.

Sept. 26—Caledonia at Claridon, Prospect at LaRue, Chesterville at Johnsville.

Oct. 3—Claridon at Prospect, Caledonia at Chesterville, LaRue at Johnsville.

Oct. 10—Chesterville at Claridon, Johnsville at Prospect, LaRue at Caledonia.

Oct. 17—Claridon at Johnsville, Chesterville at LaRue, Prospect at Caledonia.

Burbrink Batting .391 To Stay In Ohio State Lead

Manager Nelson Burbrink still has a commanding lead over Bob Verrier, Richmond third baseman, in the Ohio State league batting race, according to figures released today by the Howe News Bureau.

The Marion skipper, who also doubles in brass as the best catcher in the loop, is hitting at a neat 391, a drop from last week's 400. Verrier dropped six points from his mark of last week to 368. Tom Florence, Muncie shortstop is third with 366. Figures include games of Aug. 5.

Burbrink is also out in front of the loop's run producers with 79 runs driven across the plate. Lima's Jack Maish is leading in three departments with 126 hits, 180 total bases and 26 doubles. Ken Lien of Zanesville is ahead of the league with 12 triples. Len Lamont, Muncie first baseman, took the home run leadership away from Burbrink. The Muncie clouter now has 8 and Burbrink 7.

Bert Flamini rang up his sixth win during the week and has yet to be defeated. Newark's Bob Brunner has the best overall record with 12 wins and three losses. Sanford Lambert has the most victories with 16 but the Zanesville portsider has suffered six losses.

The Marion Cubs top the loop in team fielding while hitting fifth. Muncie is leading in team batting with an average of .279.

Return To Lincoln Park Tonight For Week-Long Home Series

Special to The Star

DAYTON, Aug. 11—The Marion Cubs and Dayton Indians divided a dramatic doubleheader here last night, Marion winning the nightcap 2-1 after dropping the opener, 4-3.

The Cubs, seven games behind Zanesville, start a five-game series with the Dodgers at Lincoln park tonight. The home stand will continue with the Newark Browns following the Dodgers for a four-game series including a Sunday doubleheader. A single game Monday with the Browns will end the home stand.

Trailing 1-0 going into the ninth inning of the second game last night the Cubs exploded for two runs to clinch victory for Ed Witowski who had engaged in a torrid pitching duel with Dick Beck.

Witowski Breaks In

With one down, Dwight Maxhimer rifled a triple to right and held up as Bob Shuford rolled out. Gene Bobzean then lashed a double to center, scoring Maxhimer. Bobzean scooted to third on a wild pitch and tallied when first baseman Paul Smith muffed Jim Forbes' grounder. Witowski singled to right, but was nailed trying for second on the relay for Forbes at third. It was the first hit of Ed's career.

Witowski and Beck gave up seven hits each as well as fanning eight each.

Similar Treatment

The 1,806 fans were treated to similar fireworks in the seven-inning opener when the Indians rammed across three runs in the last frame to whip lefty Bert Flamini. With one away, Del Leslie and Marty Sebastian walked, whereupon Leslie tallied on Les Filkins' double. Carl Schrage's sharp hit to right accounted for Sebastian and Filkins to win the game.

Flamini gave up but three hits until the fatal seventh. Of Marion's seven hits, Nelson Burbrink made two.

The Cubs won the Saturday night game with a two-run rally in the sixth round. John Edington, although relieved by Frank Smith in the sixth inning, was the winning pitcher, making his record read nine wins against 10 losses.

Dodger Farm Chain Grows

Rickey Building Organization Second to None in Major Leagues.

BROOKLYN — Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, is building an organization second to none in the major leagues, says Arthur Mann, former baseball writer turned executive.

Mann believes Rickey is one of the keenest judges of young baseball talent the game has ever known.

"Brooklyn is building with youth on the field, and young executives in the front office who speak up. In a short while the Dodgers will be second to none in baseball," says Mann.

"By April 1 Brooklyn will have under its call 1,000 athletes. Of these, 700 players will be retained for 25 minor league teams either owned by Brooklyn or with which we have a working agreement. The other 300 players will be free agents."

Rickey can't possibly judge all these players, Mann quickly points out, but he adds that "the boss" has available men who will take care of this important job. They operate under Bob Clements, a major in World War II who sets up Brooklyn's minor league operations.

"We have a feeder system," explains Mann. "We call it exactly what it means. When Brooklyn takes a player from, let's say Montreal, we have two players in a lower classification ready to fill the breach for our No. 1 farm team. The same principle is used right down the line to Class D clubs."

Where do the beloved Bums get all these players?

"Well, the Dodgers have 18 scouts—year round men," Mann reveals. "Then we have 60 bird dogs, fellows who are out on commission looking for good young players. And tryout schools are held from time to time in different parts of the country."

Brooklyn grid Dodger football stars Glenn Dobbs and Saxon Judd were eliminated one up in the semi-finals of the Tulsa four ball tourney.

Smitty's To Duel Mansfield Club in Semi-Finals Tonight

Special to The Star

MT. VERNON, Aug. 11 — Smitty's Grill, Marion's hope in the sixth district tournament being held here, meets Gorman-Rupp of Mansfield tonight for the right to play in the finals Wednesday.

Saturday night Riverside park was cracking at the seams, as more than 3,000 fans turned out for the last session of quarter-final play. Barnes of Mansfield, defending sixth district champ, moved up with a 5-3 defeat of Mansfield Safety Cabs. Ashland Indians also advanced to semi-finals with a 6-2 victory over Shelby Eagles. Barnes meets the Indians in the first game tonight at 8.

Guy Lewis, Smitty fireballer, will probably draw the starting assignment tonight, while Boo Regulas is slated to start for Gorman-Rupp. The game will follow the Indian-Barnes match.

Smitty's have defeated the Mansfield team twice this season and bowed to them once. Smitty's are shooting for their first district crown since 1944. They were runners-up in 1945 and went to the semi-finals last year.

Tourney manager Hal Clawson is expecting an even larger turnout tonight than there was Saturday. Special seating facilities are being set up to handle the crowd.

Slugging Dodgers Whip Richmond After Losing First

By The Associated Press

Zanesville's slugging Dodgers showed Richmond, Ind., why the Ohioans are leading the Ohio State league race, as if the Buckeyes didn't already know.

Stung by Richmond's 4-3 victory on a ninth inning single in yesterday's opener of a twin bill at the Indiana city, Zanesville batsmen pounded three pitchers for 19 hits and a 16-10 win in the finale.

Muncie, Ind., and Newark split a doubleheader in the Hoosier city, giving the Ohioans a single game edge in a three-game series. Muncie took the opener 8-2 but Newark came back to win the second 6-4.

Springfield overwhelmed Lima 7-6 and 7-1 in two games at Springfield.

Vet Students Promised Fast GI Bill Checks

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 11—The veterans administration today assured qualified students in college this fall under the G.I. bill that they would start receiving assistance checks about 60 days after certification.

Total student veterans attending school this fall are expected to exceed the 108,527 recorded last spring, said Ralph H. Stone, deputy administrator of VA's Columbus branch office.

Every effort will be made to speed subsistence as quickly as possible after schools and colleges certify to the VA that the veterans are properly enrolled," Stone explained.

FLIGHT

poles — Lamb said, and will probably start and end in Chicago or Washington, and be routed over Greenland, the North Pole, Alaska, Tokyo, New Zealand, and South Pole, and South America. Lamb added that a converted Army B-32 will be used on the flight, to be sponsored by Milton Reynolds, who backed the record breaking Odom flights.

The record trip just ended started at 12:53 p. m. (E.S.T.) Thursday with stops at Gander, Newfoundland, Paris, Cairo, Karachi and Calcutta, India; Tokyo, Anchorage, Alaska; Fargo, N. D.; and back to Chicago at 1:58 p. m. (E.S.T.) Sunday. Three minutes later Odom landed at the Chicago municipal airport, 22 miles south of his starting point.

Looks Fresh, Rested

He climbed out of his plane clean-shaven and smiling, as if he had returned from a short pleasure jaunt, not a gruelling flight of over three nearly sleepless days.

He was greeted by his wife who cried "Bill! you look wonderfull," his two children, Ronnie, 3, and Rochelle, 6, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Odom of Kansas City, along with Mayor Martin H. Kennelly of Chicago, and thousands of cheering spectators.

Odom said the winds were against him, and told of facing a monsoon thunderstorm over Burma and the "hump" which knocked out the automatic pilot.

It was between Anchorage and Fargo that Odom said he "collapsed with fatigue." He said he awakened an hour and forty minutes later to find his plane had reversed its course and dropped from 20,000 to 16,000 feet.

"I looked up and I was headed straight for a huge cloud. No, I thought, that's not a cloud. I turned to go around it, and then saw it was a huge treacherous ledge of ice. It looked like a glacier. It was the top of a mountain, 19,000 feet above the ground, the second highest on the continent. It made me sick at my stomach." The young pilot said he didn't remember the name of the peak.

SWALLOWS AT HOME—A chandelier in the lobby of the Mitsubishi Shoji building in Tokyo solved the housing problem for this pair of swallows. Keystone of Japan's war industry, the House of Mitsubishi was one of the concerns put out of business recently by Gen. MacArthur.

Joseph Julian, heard in a leading role on the NBC dramatic series, "Call the Police," believes radio actors give better performances if they memorize their parts. LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

MY astonished stare at Philip Veritzen held far more than surprise.

There was a mounting anger, fiercer and more intense with each passing instant, that this man should have discussed with his son something of which I was sure Mary had not spoken except to her husband.

For while Mary never had uttered a single syllable to either of us on the subject, Katherine and I, long before the illness which resulted in Mary's trip to the sanitarium, had guessed that she did not wish a child.

But we also had tactily figured out the reason for her attitude, although we never had discussed it. We had guessed that her reluctance stemmed from her recognition that the "royal rages" of the ruling family of Transvania, in which both Philip and Noel indulged, might well be inherited by any child of Noel's. But from little things both Noel and Mary had let drop, we had figured that Noel had cured himself of indulgence in those rages, and that Mary was considering the possibility of motherhood.

Then had come her long illness, her banishment to the sanitarium, and, lastly, this new and terrible dread which she had been entertaining, making the possibility of a child unthinkable.

As if I were sweeping dust into a dust bin, I shook off all inhibitions and faced Philip Veritzen squarely.

"Please do not be offended with me, Philip," I said, "but I think the time has come for us to lay all the cards on the table."

He shot a keen look at me.

Philip Agrees

"I agree with you," he said. "But cannot we begin with your assertion that Harriet Braithwaite had banished Mary's fear? Do you mean, by any chance, that Mary no longer dreads inherited insanity?"

"I mean exactly that," I replied. "Mary's mother had some queer quirks, and I always had understood from Dicky, and from his mother, that they resulted from an injury at the time of Roderick's birth. But when Mary's memory began to fail her, she became obsessed with the idea that she inherited insanity from her mother.

"If she had only told us her secret fear, we could have freed her from it earlier," I went on. "But it was only after those bars were put on, and she realized that she could not get out of the world under her own powder, as she put it, that she broke down and told me what she really feared.

"Then I found out that she would take Harriet Braithwaite's word as to the matter and no one's else's. She said her Aunt Harriet might evade the question, but that she would not tell an untruth about it. I wrote to Harriet immediately ,asking her to telephone us yes or no without danger of the truth becoming known to possible eavesdroppers on the telephone."

An Awful Danger

"Good God!" Philip exclaimed. "That was an awful danger!"

"It was no danger at all, with Harriet Braithwaite on the job," I retorted curtly. "She and Katharine managed the matter beautifully. Mary overheard our conversation, which Harriet was managing with great discretion, flashed to the telephone, and almost said something indiscreet, but Katharine's hand over her mouth kept her quiet and no harm was done. She fainted when she finally grasped the good news, but revived almost immediately, and the improvement of her mental condition is almost unbelievable. Dr. Twitchell believes she will be able in a few days to take up her life where she left off a year ago. He wants only to be assured of her physical strength. He has no more fear of a nervous breakdown, or worse."

But I made no move to call Mary. Instead, I gestured toward the chair he had just left.

"I am afraid you will have to wait a few minutes, Phil," I said. "Please sit down again. You remember I said we had to put some cards on the table. I have not yet finished laying mine down."

His eyebrows contracted into an involuntary frown again, but he smoothed them out and sat down heavily in his chair.

"You shall see Mary very shortly," I said, "but there are some things, in justice to all of us, that I think must be cleared up first. I must ask you, first, since you brought the subject up yourself, did Noel tell you that Mary refused motherhood, and, if so, did he give you any reason for her decision?"
